Table of Contents

1. Request!
2. Critic Review Setup
3. Critic Review #1: The Curled Silence by MysteriousCurl
4. Critic Review #2: Blazing Paths by Warriorsgirl33901
5. Critic Review #3 Gingerstar's Fears by Frozenpaw
6. Critic Review#4: Warriors of Ga'Hoole: Wings of Fire by NinjaWolf103
7. Critic Review #5 Icetail's Enemy by LightningStrikeTC
8. Critic Review #6 The Rise of Foxstar by ashpooch
9. Critic Review #7: A Girl of a Warrior by helloilovecats
10. Critic Review #8 Warrior Cat Last Words by MysteriousCurl
11. Critic Review #9: A Destiny of Hope by Sammy144
12. Critic Review #10: Warriors: Dusk and Dawn by _OnyxStar_
13. Critic Review #11: Warrior Cats- Beginning by Frostfern10
14. Critic Review #12: DuskClan by Wicca-Warriors
15. Critic Review #13: Warrior Cat Spoofs by Flame_Blizzard
16. Critic Review #14: Path to Stars Book One: Haunted Dreams by Echo_of_Gravity
17. Critic Review #15: The Fight Begins Book One: Rising Forces by Shiningspirit731
18. Critic Review #16: Warriors: Dawn by MintBerry4
19. Critic Review #17: Frozenwing's Discovery by SkyfeatherRC
20. Critic Review #18: Warriors: Faded Shadows by Wolfyfang
21. Critic Review #19: SkyClan's Prophecy by Cerebus10
22. Critic Review #20: Warriors: Hollyleaf's Sacrifice by TheFoxMcCloud
23. Critic Review #21: FirestarXSpottedleaf: I'm Here by Spiritmoonz
24. Critic Review #22: Warriors: Fading Stars by midnightskittles
25. Critic Review #23: Warriors: Toadstep's Love by MayvellyObsessed
26. Critic Review #24: Darksoul's Hate by MeHazKitten
27. Critic Review #25: Warrior Cats: Untold Stories by -Skyfrost-
28. Critic Review #26: Warriors: No Trust by awesomesauceoreos

29. Critic Review #27: Warriors: Everything Starts Here by MoonyandIvy
30. Critic Review #28: A Father's Pawsteps by CartoonyCanine
31. Critic Review #29: Warriors: A Ray of Hope- Sun by Fanlord1987
32. Critic Review #30: Warriors: Duskmist's Demon by KrazyAlli
33. Critic Review #31: Warriors: A New Destiny for Two by Fangs-Buddery_Kitten
34. Critic Review #32: Warrior Cats- Crashing Ties by Frostfern10
35. Critic Review #33: Retribution by VectorSigma
36. Critic Review #34: The Tribe of Moving Fire by Rivershadow

Request!

On this page, anyone can request a review on their story. After you have done that, our critics of WarriorsWattyAwards will read your story, and write a review on things like how the critic liked the story, how the writer can improve, and a rating.

There is only one guideline to follow:
Your story must be about or relating to the Warriors series created be Erin Hunter. If you have stories of other topics, please look for other accounts. There are tons of WattyAward accounts out there!

Here is what must be in the entry forms that you submit:

-Your username

-The title of the book you would like reviewed

-A link [optional]

-At least 5-10 chapters published [unless it is a short story]

THE CRITIC REVIEW FORMAT WILL BE SHOWN IN THE NEXT PART!

Our critics of WarriorsWattyAwards will not be able to write your review immidiately, it may take a day or two because we're busy or not online. This is why we have multiple critics. Below is a good example of what a request should look like.

'Hello, I'm MysteriousCurl , and would like you to review my book titled, "Curled Silence". Here is the link!
[link is put here].'

-Written by MysteriousCurl

Critic Review Setup

Title of part: Critic Review #_: (Story Title Here) by (Author's Name Here)
Must be included within critic:
Name of critic
A short summary (not necessary, but would be cool if had the time)
Why you like and dislike
How the author could improve
Final report (How you really liked it)
Rating 1-5 ☆
Thank you message (maybe)

Critic Review #1: The Curled Silence by MysteriousCurl

Name of Critic: KittyGamerGlaceon11

Short Summary: A loner named Curl came across the Clans at its worst and at his own worst. The Great Winds weren't so nice to him. He entered the Thunderclan camp just as Firestar lost his final life. Bramblestar, the new leader has decided to test his skills when a tragic event accrues. Bramblestar had received a prophecy a moon before, saying a curled silence would come. The loners death made him loss all hope but when the tom is reincarnated as Dovewings and Bumblestripes kit, Curlkit, he's starting to gain hope. But the adventures for the tom kit are coming at him quickly. He just has to be willing enough to face them.

Liked/ Disliked: I liked the details and how I could feel the suspense of the story. You hit that spot on. But I noticed a few speeding mistakes and Seedpaw was accidentially mistaken and referred to as Honeypaw. Also when Curlpaw was an apprentice, Dewkit, Brighthearts kit was mentioned. But he was born before Curlpaw and his siblings. I also think the story was almost rushed. Everything happened too fast for me. But the events you created were creative and I was always on end to what would happen next.

Author can Improve: I suggest revising after writing the chapter. Maybe not once but instead twice, of even three times if necissary. I believe you have excellent writing skills, just also make sure you take your time when writing your stories instead of rushing it.

Final Report: Overall, it was a good story, even though there were a few minor mistakes, it was well planned out and I understood what was happening. Good job!

Rating: 3-5

All the admins appreciate you entering your story! I personally enjoyed reading it! Lots of love!

Critic Review #2: Blazing Paths by Warriorsgirl33901

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: The story takes place around 57 moons after the events of The Last Hope. Four apprentices; Winterpaw, Emberpaw, Moonpaw and Pantherpaw are all connected by a mysterious prophecy: The darkness draws near, the Panther, the Ember, the Winter and the Moon will join forces to stop the oncoming peril and to save the clans that have defeated the enemy.

Liked/Disliked: I liked how the apprentices all have a different background and different challenges that they have to face every day. From Emberpaw trying to impress his mentor to Moonpaw feeling rejected by her mother. One thing that I found lacking in this story is how there isn't much description on the cats surroundings, like what the weather is like or the different sounds and smells that they discover while on a patrol. Also in chapter four you have an author's note in the middle of the story which is a big no no, this ruins the flow of the story and is not very professional.

Author Improvement: Adding more description to the cats' surroundings I think will greatly improve this story and add more depth to it. Currently your chapters are all just one long paragraph, this can be a bit difficult to read sometimes so I would suggest breaking them up into smaller paragraphs. Also when your characters are speaking start a new line, this can help make it easier to see who is speaking.

Final Thoughts: This is a good story that has great potential.

Rating: 3/5

Critic Review #3 Gingerstar's Fears by Frozenpaw

Critic: Brambleclaw4Ever

Short Summary: A cat named Gingerlight lives in the four clans of BerryClan, SedgeClan, LakeClan, and VolcanoClan. Everything is at peace. Gingerlight has a mate and kits, and is satisfied until one day a storm comes and lightning strikes the camp. The whole forest burns down and only a small handful of cats survive. They meet up and create the lone clan, CinderClan with Gingerlight as leader. As the clan repopulates throughout the moons, Gingerstar receives a message from StarClan telling her that there was always meant to be five clans. CinderClan then divides into the original ThunderClan, RiverClan, ShadowClan, and WindClan. Soon, Gingerstar, on her final life joins the fifth clan, StarClan.

Like/Dislike: There were some spelling mistakes, and little things like that, so I think before posting a chapter, re-read it several times to clear that up. Also I think that explaining the surrounding a bit more would have given it that "realism" touch. But the plot line was amazing! The way you made Gingerstar come to life throughout the story and share her feelings. I also love that you completed the whole thing. The ending was sad but happy at the same time. :)

Improvement: As I said before reading over the chapter before posting it and also describing the surroundings a bit more. Is it raining? How hard? Are the clouds dark? Is it cool or hot out? Ask those questions to yourself. Try and draw out conversations as long as possible, and add in little tiny details that you think wouldn't even be noticed. Same goes with exciting/scary/emotional moments.

Overall review: I think this story was very fun and exciting to read, apart from a few minor mistakes.

Rating: ✯✯✧ (2 and a half)

Critic Review#4: Warriors of Ga'Hoole: Wings of Fire by NinjaWolf103

Title: Warriors of Ga'Hoole: Wings of Fire

Critic: KittyGamerGlaceon11

Short Summary:

Hollypaw, daughter of Lionblaze and Cinderheart, is unlike other cats in her clan. She has wings. One of her littermates has cast her out and multiple cats hate her because of her difference. But when she starts receiving weird prophecies, and visions, she leaves the clans to find this place that her visions are showing her. Here, she meets a large group of owls with organized jobs and duties they must play to keep one another safe. When troubles starts to come, they might find an unlikely alliance in the Clans.

Like/Dislike: Wow. I loved this. I've never read the Guardians of Ga'Hoole series but this story has made me quite interested! I personally like how you described things with not only present events but with flashbacks, heart warming moments, it all just fit together so perfectly to make a good first book! No matter how much I loved it, I wish you could have built the suspense a bit more. You had many opportunities to do so and it would have made it a better story then it already is. But overall, I really enjoyed this book and plan on reading the whole series.

Final Report: This story was nicely detailed and has a very interesting plot line. Could have built up the suspense more but it was well written without many grammar or spelling mistakes.

Rating: I give this story a 4-5

Message: You are an excellent writer! I look forward to reading your entire series and I loved the cover! Thank you for letting me read your story C:

Critic Review #5 Icetail's Enemy by LightningStrikeTC

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: The darkness was never meant to be, and two cats high and proud will lead and destroy. Icepaw receives this prophecy and knows that soon trouble will come. A deadly war breaks out between the Clans and the cats who you think you can trust aren't that trustworthy at all. Can Icetail figure out the meaning of the prophecy he received as an apprentice before his Clan is destroyed?

Liked/Disliked: My favorite element of this book is the character development, with Icetail especially. You really see him grow and change as the book goes on and how the death of clanmates affect his decision making process. I also liked the descriptions you included, especially in the battle scenes. Writing a good battle scene is difficult but you've managed to pull it off which is great. Personally I didn't like the really long chapters, some people like long chapters but I just find it a bit difficult to read sometimes. I also found that a lot of cats had the suffix 'heart', this confused me a couple of times and I had to go back and read a certain part again because when I thought it was one character it was actually someone else.

Author Improvement: Just general grammar, spelling and wording errors that need to be fixed when you go through and edit and also some characters names kept changing. In part two of the book the medicine cat was called Sweetfur and then in part three it was changed to Sweetheart. I'm not sure if you knew this or not but it's just something to look out for when editing.

Final Thoughts: This is a very exciting book with plenty of action, I am very interested in seeing what happens at the end.

Score: 4/5

Critic Review #6 The Rise of Foxstar by ashpooch

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Foxkit was constantly bullied by his two older brothers, Lionkit and Bravekit. Only his other brother Sunkit stood up for him. As Foxpaw he's partnered with a tough mentor who always seems disappointed with Foxpaw because of his small size. Determined to become stronger Foxpaw trains his hardest to become the best warrior and eventually leader.

Liked/Disliked: One of my favourite parts of this book so far was the introduction of Heronshade. What he did to Foxpaw was something I haven't seen before and I'm really interested in seeing what Heronshade has planned for Foxpaw. I didn't really like how everyone in the Clan didn't seem to like Foxpaw apart from a few cats simply because he was a bit smaller than the others, it seems a bit harsh to me.

Author Improvement: Currently the chapters are quite short, adding some more description into the paragraphs can help lengthen them and also add depth and help the reader visualize the surroundings better.

Final Thoughts: With a bit of improvement this book can be really great.

Score: 3.5/5

Critic Review #7: A Girl of a Warrior by helloilovecats

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Fourteen year old Duskelle has grown up with autism and had always been a bit different from normal girls. She can't understand human speech properly and is terrified of going in a car. Duskelle's only friend is River, a loner cat who she can understand and converse with perfectly. One day River goes missing and Duskelle ventures into the forest for the first time to find her only friend and on the way she may just find where she truly belongs.

Liked/Disliked: I haven't come across an idea like this before so I was very interested to find out more. Duskelle is a very interesting character she thinks and acts more like a cat than a human and it's refreshing to see the Clan from a humans perspective instead of a cats. Unfortunately though this story left me a bit confused. I thought that Minnowstar was a bit too quick in accepting Duskelle to join them and there wasn't much consulting with the rest of the Clan as to what they thought either. Also I don't think it's quite possible for a fourteen year old to sleep comfortably in the apprentice den without disrupting the other cats.

Author Improvement: Some of the early chapters are just one long paragraph so I suggest breaking them up, and also when a character is speaking have what they're saying on a new line. You did this in some places but then stopped. You're pretty good at describing the appearances of the cats but there isn't much description about the surroundings so I would add a bit more in there.

Final Thoughts: A unique and interesting idea that just needs a bit more thought put into it to make it great.

Rating: 2.5/5

Critic Review #8 Warrior Cat Last Words by MysteriousCurl

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Not really a fan fiction or a spoof book. Sort of a history book about the last words of some of our favourite or not so favourite warriors through out the series.

~A quick warning for those who haven't read the entire main series and some of the super editions. This book is full of spoilers so proceed with caution when reading!~

Liked/Disliked: I really enjoyed reading this, it wasn't just the last words of the warriors there was also a little background as to what happened leading up to the cats death and you also put your own opinions on the last words which at times I found quite funny. There wasn't really anything that I didn't like about this book except that some of the quotes were wrong but they were corrected in later chapters.

Author Improvement: One thing that I suggest is removing the author note that says you won't be updating anymore because you did end up continuing to update so it seems a bit silly to still have it there.

Final Thoughts: Entertaining and at times sad as you re-live some of the saddest moments in the series.

Rating: 4/5

Critic Review #9: A Destiny of Hope by Sammy144

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Silverpaw has been given special powers by the first leader of WolfClan. Her claws and fangs can lengthen to a much larger size and when she yowls she can make some cats go deaf. But these powers also come with a prophecy: The darkest heart will steal, but the wolf, the lion and the moon will come with companions to save the stolen. Six will come to rescue, but five will come back.

Liked/Disliked: If I am to be completely honest there wasn't much I liked about this book. One scene I was confused about was the rouge attack, the apprentices had just returned to camp from training when suddenly they are being attacked. There was no reason why the rogues attacked and I would think that such a large group of cats would have been scented or spotted ages before they made it to the camp. I also found it a bit cliche how the first gathering Silverheart goes to she meets a tom who she instantly finds attractive and goes to meet him secretly and then finds out that one of her friends likes her too.

Author Improvement: This is an extremely fast paced book, slow it down by describing the surroundings and emotions that the characters are feeling in a bit more detail. This can also help the reader feel more connected with the characters if they understand what they're going through a bit better.

Final Thoughts: An interesting premise but more planning and editing is needed for this book to be better.

Rating: 2/5

Critic Review #10: Warriors: Dusk and Dawn by _OnyxStar_

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: This story is set a couple of generations after the events of Bramblestar's Storm. The Clans have been living peacefully beside the lake but as always darkness and evil finds it's way back to the forest. The kit Duskkit receives a prophecy: Dusk and dawn will save ThunderClan from the shattered and dark path that lies ahead.

Liked/Disliked: I really liked the characters in this book, throughout the story the main characters developed into unique cats, and they're easy to relate to as well like Duskpaw feeling like his sister is more popular in the Clan than he is. The descriptions are also very well done, I could easily visualize the surroundings and the different interactions between the cats which is very important in writing a good book. As far as what I didn't like about this book there really wasn't anything, this is one of the best Warriors fan fiction I've read.

Author Improvement: There isn't really much to improve in this story apart from some general grammar mistakes.

Final Thoughts: This book haThe right amount of excitement and action and a good enough ending to make me want to go onto the second book to find out what happens next.

Rating: 5/5

Critic Review #11: Warrior Cats- Beginning by Frostfern10

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Frostkit is one of the newest kits in ThunderClan and soon experiences a cruel tragedy that she never saw coming. But it's only the beginning for the young she-cat as she tries to be the best warrior she can be for her Clan.

Liked/Disliked: I found this story very rushed, just as it was beginning it had already ended and I felt a bit disappointed. There wasn't really any time to get to know the characters and I felt that there was too much going on in such a short amount of time, one second the Clan is being attacked by ShadowClan and the next its badgers. Lack of description also made it hard for me to connect, feel and see what the characters were experiencing throughout the chapters. I also thought that the 'missing scene' gave too much away too quickly and the story line lost some of the mystery around who Longpaw actually is.

Author Improvement: Try and slow down the pace of the story a bit. Maybe put some more detail into Frostpaw's training or interactions she has with others in the Clan. Maybe a little border skirmish occurs or something out of the ordinary happened at a Gathering. Also general grammar and spelling mistakes that should be fixed as you go through editing.

Final Thoughts: This has potential to be a good start to a new series but it's too rushed and the reader has no time to process what happens before they've reached the end.

Rating: 2/5

Critic Review #12: DuskClan by Wicca-Warriors

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Duskclan has many loyal warriors but some are not as loyal as others. A new clan called Deathclan is growing in numbers and is intent on destroying the others so they can rule the forest.

Liked/disliked: This book is very confusing, I even read through it twice and unfortunately I still struggled to understand what was happening. The main reason for this is there are multiple point of view changes throughout one chapter, some point of views were only a couple of sentences long before they switched again and even though you indicate when it changes sometimes I missed it and had to go back because I had no idea what was going on. Another thing with all the view changes was that it was hard to connect with any of the characters because before I could get into their story line properly the view had switched again and I had to refocus on this new character.

Imrovement: Stick to one point of view for each chapter, this can eliminate confusion but also because your focusing on one character you can add more detail about them and make the story more interesting. For example, there isn't much about Whitepaw after he loses his sight. Having a chapter about him trying to figure out how to live without his vision and how it also impacts Whitepaw mentally would be really interesting.

Final thought: There is potential for this story but it's going to take a lot of hard work and practice to get there.

Score: 2/5

Critic Review #13: Warrior Cat Spoofs by Flame_Blizzard

Critic: WynterFrost

Summary: A collection of warrior cat spoofs.

Liked/disliked: I've never read a spoof book before and only had a general idea of what they were about so I wasn't really sure what to expect. Honestly I didn't enjoy it, maybe because there's an age difference and my sense of humor is more mature or just very different from yours but I just found the scenarios silly and the responses from the cats not really funny at all.

Improvement: I'm not sure what there is to improve here, it really depends on your point of view on these kind of books and what you find funny or not funny.

Final thoughts: Spoof books definitely cater to a certain audience and I think, unfortunately, I'm not part of it.

Rating: 1/5

Critic Review #14: Path to Stars Book One: Haunted Dreams by Echo_of_Gravity

Critic: WynterFrost

Summary: Star is a young kittypet that has ties to the Clans. At a trip to the vet Star is rescued by her father Switfall and taken to the Clans. Things are definitely not going to be easy for them especially with the prophecy sent by the Tribe of Rushing Water: A star furred cat will save the Clans from the deadliest Clan.

Liked/disliked: There is an intesting mix of characters in this story, they are all unique and memorable in their own ways. I especially liked Scar, with his metal leg and a mysterious past and an ever more mysterious future he isn't just another loner that joins the Clan he as a purpose. It was also refreshing to see things from a kittypets perspective and how she viewed what was happening at the vet, I haven't come across something like that before in a fan fiction. The only thing I didn't like was that this book is too short! Just as things were getting exciting it had ended and I wanted more! Hopefully the following books will be just as exciting as this one.

Author improvement: There's not really anything to be improved here except some minor grammar mistakes.

Final Thoughts: A good start to the series, interesting characters and plot line that have me looking for more.

Rating: 4/5

Critic Review #15: The Fight Begins Book One: Rising Forces by Shiningspirit731

Critic: WynterFrost

Summary: Spirit was the runt of the litter and soon kicked out of her home. After being attacked by rogues Spirit is taken in by a group of loners and soon the group come across the Clan cats who they decide to join and start a new life.

Liked/disliked: There's only a couple of chapters so far so it was a bit difficult to see where the story would be heading. There wasn't much in the description which is good in a way because it means the reader has to actually read the story to find out what it's about and not just read the description and think they know everything. I thought it a bit strange that so soon after meeting the Clan cats, Spirit and her friends agreed to join them so quickly and without much discussion. They were kind of a mini Clan of their own, trust and friendship would have built up and they kinda threw that all away by separating into the different Clans.

Author Improvement: I found that throughout the chapters it kept switching from first person to third person. I'm not sure if you were aware you were doing this or not but pick one point of view and stick with it. Also in chapter seven it gets cut off halfway and then starts over in the next chapter, you may want to fix this.

Final Thoughts: This story has a long way to go yet.

Rating: 2.5/5

Critic Review #16: Warriors: Dawn by MintBerry4

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Dawnpaw and Duskpaw lost their sibling in a flood when they were kits, an event that will always haunt them. Now they're trying their best to become the best warriors they can be.

Liked/Disliked: There isn't really anything in this story so far that makes me like or dislike it. Right now nothing significant has happened in the story line except for the flood and that was just in the prologue. The writing is good, the descriptions used are pretty good and the chapters are a good length. There isn't much in the description for this book so it's a bit of a mystery about whats going to happen, but this also makes me wonder of its really worth continuing to read because there isn't any hint if something big is going to happen later on.

Author Improvements: I noticed when there were scenes where most of the kits were you put, 'Poppy, Raven and Willowkit' I know it's a pain sometimes to write the same thing over but you have to do it.

Final Thoughts: Just an average story so far, hopefully something exciting will happen soon to keep the readers interested.

Rating: 3/5

Critic Review #17: Frozenwing's Discovery by SkyfeatherRC

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Frozenwing lives a pretty good life in BreezeClan until she discovers she has a lost sibling and a prophecy surrounding them: When the kin of the Sky divides, the Fire will rise until the Ice and Storm combine, extinguishing the Fire for eternity.

Liked/Disliked: There's a lot of action in the book and there was always something happening to make me keep reading. Flamecloud was an interesting villain with unique powers and backstory. I was confused about SpiritGroup though. There wasn't much thought or reason why Frozenwing decided to join them. She was already deputy which would take up a lot of time so why would she need to join? Also there wasn't anymore mention of the group until the battle so it seems like they were only added for convenience rather than moving the plot along. And there also was practically no mention of Wolfstorm after he became a warrior and I thought he was a pretty important character after I found out who he really was.

Author Improvement: Like I said before, Wolfstorm is an important character who quickly gets put into the background. I think you should try to incorporate him back into the story somehow like Frozenwing catching him sneaking in or out of camp for example.

Final Thoughts: Lots of excitement and some interesting characters but I think some revision of the plot is needed to polish it up.

Rating: 4/5

Critic Review #18: Warriors: Faded Shadows by Wolfyfang

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Shadepaw stumbles upon a secret meeting in StarClan where he discovers they lie to Clan cats by making up fake prophesies and they're planning to tell another one to a young kit. Shadepaw is going to try his best to protect this kit while protecting his own secret. He's from the Dark Forest.

Liked/Disliked: This book has a very interesting premise, a cat from the Dark Forest trying to help is not something you read everyday so I was intrigued. Even though there are only a couple of chapters so far they're very action packed and they left me wanting more. The descriptions of the environments are very good and I can picture everything that's happening really well. So far there isn't anything I don't like about this book which is really good.

Author Improvement: Only minor grammar mistakes and some names change too. Sorrelpaw changed to Snowpaw and Adderstar became Lionstar.

Final Thoughts: A great start so far with heaps of action, I'm definitely going to keep my eye on this book.

Rating: 4.5/5

Critic Review #19: SkyClan's Prophecy by Cerebus10

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: SkyClan has been living in peace for many seasons after being rebuilt by Firestar. But all that is about to change when an old enemy of the Clans find SkyClan and the delivery of a prophecy: The sun will disappear and the moon will turn red with blood. During this time enemies will stir and prey will hide in fear. To save the Clan, the falcon must travel further than where the origin began into the land of beyond.

Liked/Disliked: I was interested when I saw this would be about SkyClan, it's not a Clan that is usually chosen in fan fics. I also really like the inclusion of BloodClan. Again, another Clan you don't read much of so I was eager to see where the story would go. The pacing of the story line for me was a bit fast at the beginning, we just find out that BloodClan is back and the next minute they're attacking. A dramatic build up to the attack would have been really exciting. Apart from all that though after Falconpaw leaves SkyClan it's just another fan fic about a prophecy and going on a great journey to find help. Hopefully when Falconpaw gets to the Clans the story will pick up and get more exciting.

Author Improvement: I would have liked to see a more detailed chapter about the BloodClan cats, like where they were hiding and how they interact with each other since the way they operate in their camp would be very different to the other Clans.

Final Thoughts: I guess this book around halfway done and I'm interested in seeing how SkyClan will be saved by the other Clans.

Rating: 3/5

Critic Review #20: Warriors: Hollyleaf's Sacrifice by TheFoxMcCloud

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: A short story about what happened to Hollyleaf after the tragic events of The Last Hope.

Liked/Disliked: This is one of the most well written Warriors fan fictions that I have come across. Even though this is a short story so much detail has been packed into the one chapter it felt like I was reading a proper novel. Hollyleaf is one of my favourite characters and I enjoyed her trip down memory lane, remembering all the moments and events that shaped her into the warrior she was at the time of the battle. A lot of research has clearly been done to make sure all the facts are correct and I can only imagine how many hours of dedication it took to look through the books to make sure everything was right.

Author Improvement: There is nothing I can suggest for improvement, this is pretty close to perfect in my opinion. One thing I will suggest though is to write more Warriors fan fiction!

Final Thoughts: One of my favourite Warriors fan fics, I'll definitely be keeping an eye on any new works by this author.

Rating: 5/5

Critic Review #21: FirestarXSpottedleaf: I'm Here by Spiritmoonz

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: After an accident, Snowpaw finds herself in the ThunderClan camp where she discovers she is the reincarnation of Spottedleaf.

Liked/Disliked: Honestly this is not a good book. There is barely any description used, the point of views changed multiple times during a chapter. Sometimes only for a couple of sentences before changing again. This made the story line hard to follow because the view kept changing so much. I had to read the book again to understand what was happening properly. Also something that confused me was how Snowpaw ended up at ThunderClan when she fell on her own territory. Was she near the ThunderClan border? Were ThunderClan trespassing? These things need to be explained so the reader isn't left confused. Also Firestar declaring his love for Snowpaw a day after she comes to camp is a bit ridiculous and a little creepy. Where's Sandstorm? Is she even part of this version of ThunderClan?

Author Improvement: More description is the number one thing needed to improve this book. This will really help the reader understand what is happening better. What is Snowpaw's territory like? What can she scent, see and hear as she's hunting? How does she feel when she discovers she's in ThunderClan? When she finds out she's the reincarnation of Spottedleaf?

Final Thoughts: Serious editing, revising and dedication is needed for this story to live up to the potential that I know it can reach.

Rating: 1/5

Critic Review #22: Warriors: Fading Stars by midnightskittles

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Hailpaw discovers that he will be the one to fulfill a prophecy sent by his mother: The sky will turn dark and the cold fury that rests within will be released.

Liked/Disliked: There isn't really anything I particualarly liked or disliked about this book. So far there are twenty chapters, and honestly, I started to get a little bored. There was some action in this book but it wasn't enough for me to get excited. It also seems that Hailpaw and Icepaw are apprentices for only a couple of days before becoming warriors. I re-read the previous chapters and there was no indication of a time jump or anything like that. The chapters seem a bit rushed too, like you wanted to get it over with as quickly as possible.

Author Improvement: Include some more chapters about Hailpaw and Icepaw's training or indicate that some time has passed so it doesn't look like they're warriors days after they've been apprenticed.

Final Thoughts: An average story, it needs something more to set it apart from other stories like it.

Rating: 2/5

Critic Review #23: Warriors: Toadstep's Love by MayvellyObsessed

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Toadstep is a loyal ThunderClan warrior but all that changes when he catches a ShadowClan she-cat on his territory.

Liked/Disliked: I was a bit skeptical about reading a fan fic that mainly centered around a forbidden romance between cats from different Clans. Though the writing is good and descriptive, I was getting a bit bored with it and it seemed to be travelling down the same path of many other stories about this subject. That was until I got to the latest chapter (chapter six at the time of writing). I was honestly so surprised, I really didn't see that twist coming. My attention has been recaptured and I want to see what happens next. One thing I didn't like about this book was that Toadstep and Olivenose's relationship remained undetected, surely at least one cat would be suspicious of them together.

Author Improvement: The one thing I would suggest is to have some cats suspicious of Olivemose and Toadstep, their relationship just seemed a bit too perfect.

Final Thoughts: A bit of a slow start but things are starting to get very interesting.

Rating: 3.5/5

Critic Review #24: Darksoul's Hate by MeHazKitten

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Darkkit and his brother Creamkit were abandoned by their mother, so they joined SoulClan lead by Chillsoul. Now Darksoul is leader and wants revenge on his mother, the leader of DawnClan.

Liked/Disliked: I think the plot of this book is interesting but it hasn't been executed very well. There isn't much description used, majority of the short chapters are just lines of dialogue. It was hard for me to visualize the kind of environment these cats were living in so it was difficult for me to picture in my head what was going in and become properly immersed in the story. It kind of felt like you're trying to get the story over as quickly as possible. The grammar also made this a bit difficult to read. I had to re-read some sentences because they made no sense at all.

Author Improvement: The grammar mistakes is the main thing that needs to be fixed. descriptions of the cats surroundings also need to be added. For example: What season is it? Are they in a forest or by a river? What is the camp like? These kind of things.

Final Thoughts: A bit of work is needs to be done for this story to reach it's full potential.

Rating: 2/5

Critic Review #25: Warrior Cats: Untold Stories by -Skyfrost-

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: A book of short stories from the point of views of different cats from the series.

Liked/Disliked: What I liked most about this book was seeing pivotal moments from the series told from another point of view. The chapters are well written and I could clearly picture myself as the warrior in each scenario and really understand what they were feeling at the time. The research needed to make sure there are no contradictions with your stories and the original books is very well done and I couldn't spot any mistakes so you clearly put a lot of time into that aspect as well as the writing part.

Author Improvement: I don't think there is anything that needs to be improved. So far everything is all good.

Final Thoughts: All the stories were written very well and I enjoyed the refreshing point of view changes.

Rating: 3.5/5

Critic Review #26: Warriors: No Trust by awesomesauceoreos

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: A mysterious illness once swept through LightClan almost destroying it. But the Clan survived and the unknown sickness known as redcough turned into elders tales. Now redcough has come back to LightClan just as tensions between DuskClan start to rise.

Liked/Disliked: I really liked the idea for this book, it's unique and immediately caught my attention. It's extremely well written with lots of detail in each chapter and it's clear a lot of effort has been put into them. Bluepaw, Ripplepaw and Dapplepaw all have very different personalities, as do the minor characters which is good because they don't all blend into the background and become dull. I'm not usually a fan of multiple point of view changes in a chapter but I didn't mind them here. Each point of view had something different to offer and it wasn't changed for just a couple of sentences before switching again. There's also an air of mystery in this book surrounding the Fragrant Fields. Why do some cats go missing? Will they ever be found? It's almost spooky.

Author Improvement: I think the story is coming along very well so far and I can't see anything that needs improving yet.

Final Thoughts: Well written with an interesting plot line. I'm definitely going to continue reading this story.

Rating: 4/5

Critic Review #27: Warriors: Everything Starts Here by MoonyandIvy

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Willowsong and one of her kits, Rainkit, leave HawkClan to join MoonClan leaving Rainkit's sister, Ivykit, behind.

Liked/Disliked: The main thing I was thinking while reading this was 'Why did they have to leave?'. It was briefly mentioned that it was because of Willowsong's mate and then later on it's revealed that Rainpaw may be one of the saviors. Hopefully this will be cleared up as the book progresses. One thing that did bother me was that everyone seemed pretty okay with Willowsong and Rainkit switching Clans, surely it couldn't have been as simple as it's made out to be? Even if there is an ulterior motive by having one of the 'saviors' not everyone would know that and may be a bit hostile and suspicious. This is also a slow paced book so far, so not much in the way of action and excitement has happened yet. I'm not sure what you have planned for the next chapters but I would think about advancing the plot and make it a bit more exciting soon because it's a bit ordinary so far.

Author Improvement: A couple of times you put phrases like: 'A tear rolled down her face' and 'Tears streaming down her face'. Cats can't actually cry tears so just be careful of things like that. You could put something like: 'Her yowls of grief echoed around the camp' instead. Also I would think about putting a description for this story so readers will know what to expect.

Final Thoughts: It's a bit of a mystery so far as to what is going to happen but it's also a bit of an average story at the moment too.

Rating: 2.5/5

Critic Review #28: A Father's Pawsteps by CartoonyCanine

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: When Scourge is killed by Tigerstar he leaves behind his mate and his three kits in Twolegplace. Adder takes over the leadership of BloodClan making sister Nightshade jealous and angry. Wanting BloodClan to become the strong ferocious Clan it used to be she plots to overthrow her brother.

Liked/Disliked: I like reading about BloodClan because their 'camp' dynamic is so different to the other Clans. It was good to see what their training and hunting is like when they live in the confined spaces of Twolegplace and I think you wrote those parts very well. I also liked seeing the different side of Scourge. You showed that he's not just a cruel, power hungry cat. There was a lot of action in this book, almost every chapter had some big event that made sure the reader was always hooked and eager to read the next chapter. You did a good job of creating the different personalities for Star, Adder and Nightshade but the other characters to me seemed too familiar and they just blended into each other. With the exception of a couple of cats, Nightshade's supporters were all the same. Mean, angry and quick to use violence making them a bit boring to read because their actions are all identical.

Author Improvement: Some diversity between the cats with their personalities would make them more interesting and memorable.

Final Thoughts: An interesting look into what life in BloodClan is like and an alternate view of what kind of cat Scourge is.

Rating: 3.5/5

Critic Review #29: Warriors: A Ray of Hope- Sun by Fanlord1987

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: [This is book two in the series so I suggest reading book one first] Blazetail is now a warrior and is working hard for his Clan but soon he is visited by an old ThunderClan leader who tells him to watch out for the silver eyed cat.

Liked/Disliked: I found this story to be very nicely written, and the cats personalities and how they developed were all done very well. Like Coalfur and Wolfstar changing as the book went on I think were handled very well. I did find several inconsistencies within the book though, for example the locations of the Clans kept changing. When it was a Gathering they were in the old forest but when Skypaw was missing Blazetail said to look around the lake and Horseplace. This made me a bit confused when it was mentioned that RiverClan and ShadowClan were trying to steal territory from the others. In the old forest it would be pointless for RiverClan to take territory from ShadowClan because they're across the Thunderpath and it would be too long of a trek for daily patrols. And if they were by the lake it wouldn't make much sense for RiverClan to take from WindClan when they're on the other side of the lake and it would be easier to expand into the area behind their camp.

Author Improvement: The chapters are all long paragraphs which is difficult to read and it's sometimes hard to tell who is speaking when chapters are like this, so I suggest breaking them up. There is also some grammar and spelling mistakes that need to be fixed.

Final Thoughts: A few plot holes here and there but overall this is a good book and a good series.

Rating: 3.5/5

Critic Review #30: Warriors: Duskmist's Demon by KrazyAlli

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Duskkit is the lost sister of Bramblekit and Tawnykit. She wanders out of camp when she is only a couple of days old and ends up in DeathClan and starts training to be a warrior at only two moons.

Liked/Disliked: I found this story to be a bit jumbled up and hard to enjoy. General facts are incorrect, a newborn kit can hardly walk properly let alone get themselves out of camp through the dirtplace, especially if they've never left the nursery before. I also found it strange that DeathClan camp is near enough to the Clans territory that they can kidnap kits but the other Clans have no idea about them and there aren't really any search patrols for the missing kits. It was a bit random when Brokenstar came into the story to train Duskmist as soon as she had her kits and she just agreed straight away without much thought and then didn't appear again. Everything happens really quickly, like the battle at the end. It feels like as soon as the battle starts it's over and the book is finished.

Author Improvement: A lot of editing needs to be done, the suffixes of names shouldn't be capitalized (i.e DuskMist should be Duskmist), sometimes there were little notes in the middle of a chapter that should be moved to be at the beginning or end of the chapter. The chapters could also be fleshed out more to make them longer and have more detail in them. There are a lot of parts in this book that are not actually chapters, things like name generators, ten facts about me and announcing how many reads the book has, in my opinion, don't belong in the book and should be put into a completely new book or put on your message board.

Final Thoughts: If the story is edited and the story line improved a bit then I think I would enjoy this a lot more.

Rating: 1/5

Critic Review #31: Warriors: A New Destiny for Two by Fangs-Buddery_Kitten

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Birchpaw is a brand new apprentice for BayClan but her journey to becoming a warrior won't be easy. A new prophecy from SunClan and a mysterious she-cat with strange injuries, things are certainly going to be interesting and maybe a little bit dangerous.

Liked/Disliked: Even though there is only five chapters so far there is a lot of detail in each of them so I can get a good idea of what camp life is like and what the different territories look like. One thing that I liked most was how the territories were different to what is normally written. Having a Clan live by the ocean is unique and different and it will be interesting to see what hunting would be like in the ocean. I was a bit confused at first when the leader had 'sun' as his suffix instead of 'star' (I admit I don't usually read the allegiances unless I get confused) but I thought it was another interesting change to the Warriors formula and a good way to make the book stand out against the others.

Author Improvement: There's only five chapters so far so there isn't anything that I can see that needs improving just yet.

Final Thoughts: A bit of a mysterious start so far with the strange she-cat and the suspicious tuft of fur and I look forward to reading about what happens next.

Rating: 3/5

Critic Review #32: Warrior Cats- Crashing Ties by Frostfern10

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: The Clans have been living peacefully for many moons despite the presence of Twolegs in their territories. But a Twoleg experiment goes wrong and the result is a cat that is insane and it falls to four apprentices to to stop this cat.

Liked/Disliked: The prologue was a very good start to the story and already I want to know more about this cat. Having a chapter in a different apprentices point of view is great because we can see what events look like from each characters point of view and understand why they acted a certain way, which is a good way to avoid the assumptions we make about characters when reading. But at the same time this can be a bad thing, in my opinion I think Icefang's chapter came in too early and has given too much away. I think it would have been better if you revealed who he really was later on so it would be more of a shocking plot twist.

Author Improvement: This is just starting so there isn't anything major so far that I think needs improving except maybe a chapter from Icefang's point of view be a bit later in the story but you may have planned out everything already so that could be a bit hard.

Final Thoughts: This looks to be a promising story with an unique plot, I think things will get very interesting here.

Rating: 3.5/5

Critic Review #33: Retribution by VectorSigma

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: After a fight during a gathering the connection between the living Clans and StarClan is broken. When a cat dies they don't go to StarClan and the leaders and medicine cats no longer receive guidance from their ancestors. After many seasons, when the Clans are just fragments of what they used to be, StarClan sends one of their own to restore the Clans to what they used to be before the connection between the living and the dead is lost forever.

Liked/Disliked: I have to say that the prologue for this book is one of the most exciting ones I've read. It doesn't happen to me often but I was seriously shocked and I instantly wanted to read more. There is great consistency throughout regarding spelling/grammar and the descriptions are very good. I could clearly picture the different Clan territories and it sounded like you had written or drawn out the locations beforehand to figure out where everything would go. One thing that tends to happen sometimes with books that have a lot of characters is that it's very easy to get their names mixed up but I didn't spot any mistakes like that which is fantastic. I found the epilogue to be a bit cliche and predictable but I liked it anyway because I have a bit of a soft spot for romance and I had grown a bit attached to the characters.

Author Improvement: I can't think of anything that needs to be improved, this is a very well written book!

Final Thoughts: This is a very exciting book and I'm eager to read more from the author.

Rating: 4.5/5

Critic Review #34: The Tribe of Moving Fire by Rivershadow

Critic: WynterFrost

Quick Summary: Leaf Young is one of the trainee members of her tribe and is almost ready to become a full member. But Leaf Young is curious when she hears a story about another tribe and decides to go on a journey to see if this mystery tribe is real.

Liked/Disliked: The main thing I really liked was the naming system you created, I thought it was very creative. And the backstory of how the tribes were created was interesting and intriguing. The nine lives ceremony for Rain's Thunder was well written and the lives given were well thought out. I look forward to reading more about Leaf Young's journey to find the other tribe.

Author Improvement: This story is just beginning so there isn't many major things that need improvement. One thing that should be fixed though is in chapter two about the forming of the tribe a couple of times you wrote 'They arrived at the valley in 4 dawns time' and 'The 2 groups lived in peace'. It should be 'four' and 'two'.

Final Thoughts: This story has an interesting premise and I look forward to seeing what will happen to the young trainee.

Rating: 3/5